BS Natural Science

“

I am constantly encountering (in medical school) things that I learned during my education at Weimar, especially in the clinical setting.

The faculty and staff really had the time to get to know me on a personal level.

The information and experiences within the classroom, NEWSTART clinical rotations, and other Weimar related experiences are invaluable.

A B.S. Natural Science is a pre-professional degree designed to prepare students for further study in medicine, dentistry, physical therapy, physician assistant or graduate study (such as a Master's in Public Health), or to work for a healthcare or science organization.

TWELVE REASONS TO JOIN US

Weimar University's Natural Science degree

1. Educates pre-health professional students in the application of God's natural laws of health.
2. Emphasizes comprehensive health and an understanding of nutritional and lifestyle therapy.
3. Follows Jesus' methods of teaching and healing by pairing practical health evangelism with the core sciences (chemistry, biology, and physics).
4. Builds on the rich medical missionary heritage of the Seventh-day Adventist Church and strives to balance scientific study with applied learning.
5. Is comprised of courses that are taught from a biblical, creation-affirming standpoint.
6. Builds students' competence in creation/evolution issues.
7. Balances scientific study with applied learning.
8. Maintains small class sizes to foster close, one-on-one interactions with program faculty.
9. Features clinical instruction and involvement in the NEWSTART Lifestyle Program and the Nedley Depression and Anxiety Recovery Program.
10. Supplies research opportunities leading to published abstracts in peer-reviewed literature.
11. Provides opportunities for local, national, and international missions.
12. Prepares students for the MCAT/DAT and other pre-professional exams.

The Natural Sciences Department trains students to serve in medical missionary work. In order to accomplish this, the department offers not only the traditionally required science courses, but also courses in natural healing remedies, diet, and lifestyle-related health challenges, and practical health evangelism.

- Emphasis on comprehensive health and an understanding of nutritional and lifestyle therapy.
- Follows Jesus' methods of teaching and healing by blending practical health evangelism with the theoretical core sciences (chemistry, biology, and physics).
- National and international missions opportunities.
- Involvement and clinical instruction in the NEWSTART™ Lifestyle Program and the Nedley Depression and Anxiety Recovery™ Program, with research opportunities leading to published abstracts in the peer reviewed literature.

BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Since August 2017, Weimar University's weekly service program called Total Community Involvement (TCI) has gotten attention. Even peer reviewers from an accrediting team have especially recognized TCI and its impact.

Each week, students, faculty, and staff spend a half-day meeting individual and group needs in the surrounding communities. It's yardwork, decluttering, helping people moving, health education for individuals and groups, healthy cooking demos, visiting with invalids and the lonely, and more.

Thanks to private donations, TCI teams have been able to give over 2.5 million dollars' worth of their time in free medical care and other services since TCI began. It's our way of sincerely and practically sharing the gospel through a helping hand, a smile, or a conversation that can all lead to Christ.

THE WEIMAR DIFFERENCE

Weimar University was founded to impart a knowledge of God to its students. In order to do this, we follow the most effective methods of education: God's methods. Only by following these methods can we impart true education to our students.

Weimar University admits the students of any race, color, national and ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school. Weimar University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin in administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other school-administered programs.
